THE MUSICIAN

Benjamin Thiébault studied at the regional conservatories of Montpellier and Paris, before entering the jazz and improvised music department of the Paris Conservatory. Subsequently, he took part in an exchange program with the Amsterdam Conservatory, where he obtained his Master's Degree in music performance.
Along his studies, Benjamin Thiébault participated in prestigious masterclasses. He performed on stage at European jazz clubs and for international festivals.

In 2020, he ran the jazz department of the departmental conservatory in Montauban. He also worked at l'Ampli in Sauvian, where he supervised the modern music department.
He also released his first trio album, "Emergence" on the independant label Parallel Records. The album has garnered critical acclaim and was named album of the week on Radio FIP.
Benjamin Thiébault is currently building several projects and artistic collaborations, most notably in the fields of jazz, soul and latin music.

THE MUSIC

Benjamin Thiébault's playing, steeped in classical influences, reveals a melodious and inventive jazz style, enriched by Creole and Latin sounds. Stripped of any embellishment, the pianist deploys his virtuosity in service of complex and nuanced compositions. Through a vibrant and evocative soundscape, he weaves captivating narratives that linger in the memory.
